Minutes were approved.

Old Business:

One person out of the department completed the individual course assessments from the fall semester of 2012. They must be completed by all Lakota Studies faculty As Soon As Possible.

New Business:

1. Lakota Studies Department Faculty must review duties and responsibilities from the job description to be sure they are being done.
 - a. Time at the office is important for the preparation of courses as is attending committee meetings as scheduled.
 - b. If faculty do not assess the assigned courses, Karen will put it in herself for example: Traditional Lakota Arts and Traditional Foods, Plants and Herbs
 - c. Work on rubric to show how the course will be used by the student after completion of course. What are the expectations of the course?

Response: Corey Yellow Boy said he is working on one for Traditional Lakota Arts I and can show it to those who teach this course. Charlie White Buffalo gave an idea on a way it could be done.

2. Pre and Post Testing in Lakota Culture 103 will be done second week of spring semester 2013.
 - a. Karen will do pretesting for Lakota Studies Department adjunct faculty and Verine White will help.
3. Over load courses for the spring semester 2013.
 - a. Lakota Studies faculty teaching an over load must sign the over load contract for spring semester 2013.
